FOREWORD

In a day to come memory will recall for us these days as turbulent and dark. The disordered feelings which we shall remember, however, will not be altogether cloudy for us, for in that happy and reasonable day a cheerful note which is inseparable from these times will persist. And this we shall associate with our years at Eastside High.

We have adopted the torch of knowledge as our theme. Surely knowledge, coupled with wisdom, will light the way of the world to our democratic ideal.

TO THE SENIOR CLASS OF JANUARY 1942:

Your senior year has been a successful one for you and your school. Many honors have been bestowed on Eastside and you have been largely responsible for them. Our school is grateful for what you have done. Your attitude and spirit are worthy of praise.

Now, as you go out into the world, continue the good work. Instead of taking tests, be prepared to meet them. Prove that democracy's investment in your education was and will be worthwhile. I have confidence that you will carry on and remain intelligently loyal to the ideal for which Eastside stands.

Esseworth Tompkins

Principal.

DEAR SENIORS:

All education is a preparation for complete living, but no life is complete unless it is dominated by character. Character has been defined as the operation of the human will dominated by principle. The supreme objective of your teachers at Eastside has been to mold you into men and women of good character, to help you build a life governed by precept.

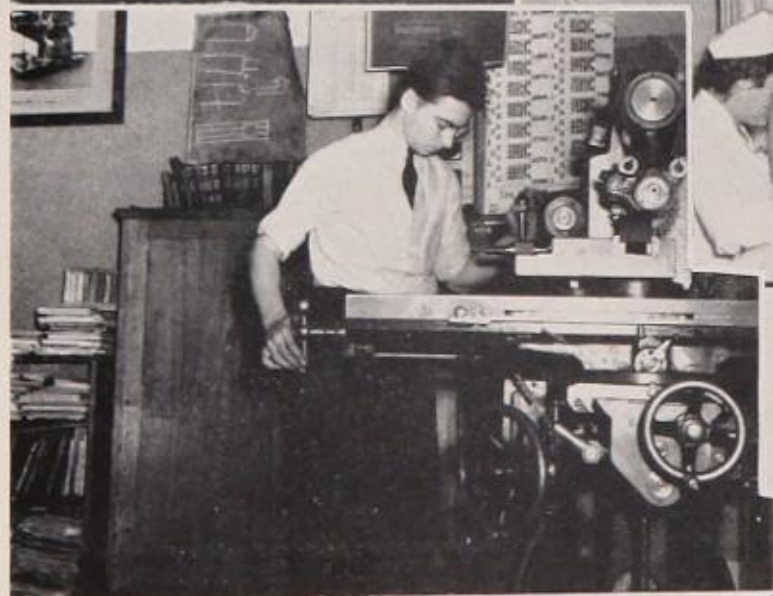

To attain life's purposes, you must be able to cope with every situation in which you may find yourself. The school has given you some preparation to meet the tasks which face you. To be sure, other agencies, such as your home, your church, your associations, have influenced your preparation. In the last analysis, however, your success will depend upon your courage and your determination to master every situation. For as the poet says:

" 'Tis the will of the soul that decides the goal
And not the storm or the strife."

EDWARD ACKERMAN

A future electrical engineer, is eighteen year-old "Ed". This six footer's hobbies include radio, model airplanes, photography, and chemistry. In his spare time, Ed also enjoys roller-skating, ice-skating, skiing, and reading. Ed lists apple pie, math, and O. Henry as top ranking in their fields.

WILLIAM ACKERMAN

"Cowboy's" main ambition is to play the drums in Tommy Dorsey's orchestra. Of course, the "King of Dance Music" in the album of this blue-eyed gentleman is T. D. himself. Preparing for his career as a musician, "Cowboy" has been a member of the Swing Club. Recall that handsome, blonde-haired personality beating the traps? Playing the drums is the hobby of Bill, who stands 5' 7" tall.

MATILDA ACKERSHOEK

"Till" is one of the athletically-inclined members of the graduating class. She has participated in basketball, tennis, and bowling, besides belonging to the Girls' Glee Club, A Capella Chorus, Student Council, and has been a monitor. She has won a 25-point shield in girls' sports. "Till" loves skating, eating, and singing. Glen Miller and "Uncle Tom's Cabin" rate tops in their respective fields. Matilda wants to make others happy.

AARON ALSWANG

Music plays a large part in the life of "Artie," a member of the Swing Club and the Band. Artie's ambition is "to play the clarinet like Benny Goodman," and, as could be expected, his favorite orchestra is none other than Benny Goodman's. This seventeen-year-old six footer's hobbies include playing the clarinet and saxophone, ping pong, and baseball. In the literary world, Artie votes "Captain Blood" the best.

FRANK JOSEPH AMABILE

Physics wiz—Frank was born on New Year's day. He has been active in the Camera and Rifle clubs and the Student Council. Frank's ambition is to be a success in whatever he undertakes. After graduation he hopes to attend college. Like many others, he prefers the music of Tommy Dorsey. His favorite author is Raphael Sabatini, while macaroni steals first place in food. Photography, skating, and swimming take up his spare time.

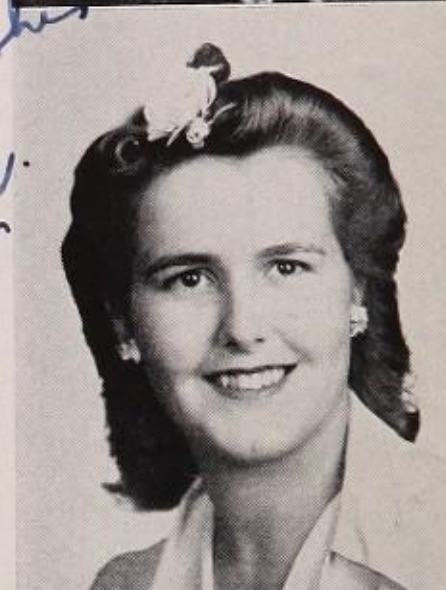

DEBORAH AMEL

"Deb", as she is called by her friends, will go to Normal School after graduation. Though her ambition is short, it is quite complete: "To succeed." She centered all her attention during her four years in school in the Music Appreciation club. She enjoys swimming, reading, and horseback riding. When it comes to books this Tommy Dorsey fan picks "Les Miserables". By the way, she is one of those well-known hot dog munchers.

DOROTHEA ANDERSON

"Dot's" favorite subject is type, and she also enjoys reading the works of J. T. Flynn. This seventeen-year old student wants to settle down and live a happily married life. As for her hobbies, they are skating, dancing, swimming and last, but not least, flirting. This blonde-haired, hazel-eyed miss considers a day well spent if she could eat a heaping bowlful of spaghetti in accompaniment to Charlie Spivak's arrangements.

GLORIA ARBEIT

Just to be different, Gloria wants to take a vacation after graduation. "Glory's" ambition is: "To be a success, retire, and see America." Though she likes lemon chiffon pie she's no softie as her favorite subject is "gym." Included in her activities are, bowling, golf, and tennis, while the Student Council, Footlights Club, and Dramatic Society knew her as a member. Tommy Dorsey and "Wuthering Heights" take first place on her hit parade of orchestras and books.

ARTHUR ARONOFF

Six-footer "Art" has black hair and green eyes. His noble ambition is to appreciate life. He's been quite active in school, being a member of the Horseshoe, Footlights, and Dabblers Clubs, Student Council, and the Senior Mirror. Sixteen-year old Herman managed to belong to the Band, work on the Senior Mirror, and be a member of the Horseshoe and Dabblers Clubs. This green-eyed, blond classical student wants to be a surgeon. In his spare time, Herman likes reading, model-making, and writing (notably his newspaper venture, "The Funnybone"). Steak and "Dynasty of Death" receive his vote, each in its respective field.

This brown-eyed, brown-haired maiden hopes to marry a millionaire's son. Her choice in the literary world is the novel "Rebecca," by Daphne Du Maurier, while spaghetti is tops to this Glenn Miller enthusiast.

Best of Luck!
"El"

ELEANOR BABB

On the long list of people who have chosen "Gone With the Wind," as the book they like best, you will find the name of Eleanor Babb. Scholastically speaking, "El" has to her credit a bookkeeping and first year certificate, and bronze and silver "P's". She was a member of the Commercial, Pan-American, Plan Your Future Clubs, and the Chorus. Huckleberry pie and ice cream is the most palatable dish she knows. A Jimmy Dorsey enthusiast, "Mar" possesses blue eyes and brown hair. With a silver "P" to back her up, Marion hopes to achieve a position as a laboratory technician. She was a member of the Junior Scholarship society, Student Council and a Big Sister. Marion probably looks forward to Friday because she likes fish, for it's a well-known fact that the two go well together.

Best wishes to a nice kid.

MICHAEL BARNO

Mike has been an important factor in the making of Eastside's Junior Police. As an ex-Junior Police Chief, he has still contributed to this fine organization. As a means of satisfying his inner wants, Mike enjoys horseback riding and fishing. After graduation, Mike hopes to become a state trooper or to succeed in the Army Air Corps.

Going to work after graduation, George hopes to make lots of money, and become a big success.

*Best Wishes
George*

MARJORIE BAXTER

Versatile "Margie" participates in sports of all types, with ice-skating, swimming, basketball and tennis heading the list. To top it off she has received her 75 point sports emblem. She's one of these people who revel in creepy mystery stories. In spite of Margie's great love of sports, she wants to attend business school and become a good private secretary. This exponent of Tommy Dorsey's music is also fond of dancing.

*To a very nice & sweet girl
Margie*

ELEANOR BELKOWSKI

The Latin-American music of the "Rumba King," Xavier Cugat, is rated number one by "El". This brown-haired miss's favorite forms of relaxation are baseball and the piano. Best Wishes for Success -- Eleanor

DELPHINE BELLINO

"Del" knits like a house on fire, and can be seen sporting her own creations on Eastside's campus. Delphine is a little on the short side, being just five feet tall and doesn't quite hit the 100 mark in weight. She prefers the music of Glenn Miller and the works of Margaret Mitchell (who's she? She wrote "Gone With the Wind.") Also, Del tries not to miss any good shows. This brunette fan of that cooling delicacy known as ice cream, has a sten certificate to her credit.

Best of Luck Delphine Bellino

This future nurse enjoys the music of Tommy Dorsey, and puts "So Many Worlds" by Mrs. Harry Pugh Smith at the head of her literary list. Chemistry, with its various odors, is her favorite subject, but as for food, the whiff of clam chowder will bring her running.

Best of luck and happiness to a sweet girl Margie

CHARLES BROCK

"Betty" likes dancing, horseback-riding, swimming, eating, and sleeping. A brown-haired, brown-eyed "Gone With The Wind" enthusiast, she has belonged to the Italian Club, and also to the Commercial Club. She lists hot dogs as her very, very favorite food. "Betty", who likes typing, wants to make her mother happy, a laudable ambition. Good luck to her!

MURRAY FREED

Brown-haired Murray is one of the most active and well liked boys in the entire graduating class—a Big Brother, a member of the Band, and a Student Councillor. Journalistically speaking, he was school correspondent for the "Paterson Evening News", a member of the Quill and Scroll Society, and co-editor of the Senior Mirror. Amazingly enough, Murray still had time to win a letter from the Band and to receive a gold "P". He is going to study chemistry, and continue listening to Jimmy Dorsey, and playing the clarinet. Good luck to one who deserves it!

GUS FRITSCHIE

Basketball, sleeping and eating are the hobbies of Gus, and they're not bad ones at that. That second one looms very important, when he states that his ambition is to retire as soon as he reaches the age of 40. The soothing music of Guy Lombardo and his orchestra are most appealing to this blue-eyed individual. Hamburgers and printing are his favorite food and subject, respectively.

*Best wishes
Eleanor*

ELEANOR FRONZAGLIA

The Roller Skating and Red Cross Clubs were enhanced by "El's" membership during her stay at Eastside. Willing to work hard, if she is able to secure a position upon graduation this blue-eyed Miss favors bookkeeping above all other subjects, and has won two awards in that department. Sammy Kaye is the choice of "El", who collects recordings as a pastime. Perhaps hoping to become a female Sherlock Holmes or Dick Tracy, she enjoys solving crimes as presented by her favorite author, Ellery Queen.

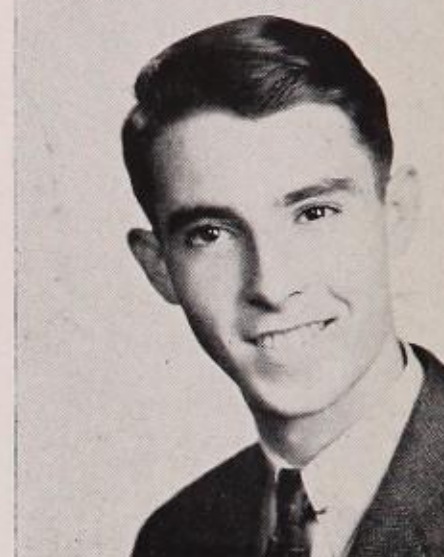

IRVING GANS

Another six-footer, this Glenn Miller exponent has brown eyes and brown hair. Photography, aviation, and name-collections are interesting to him, but he also favors such sports as archery, swimming, and boating. After graduation he will join his father's business, and says he hopes to be a success in everything he undertakes. Irving gives four stars to H. G. Wells in literature.

EDWARD GARDINER

Popular, 5'9" tall, and a Harry James fan, "Eddie" also shows definite scientific tendencies. This future electrical engineer lists chemistry and physics as his favorite subjects. Former student councillor "Eddie" has been assistant manager of the track team and winner of a first year certificate. College is this brown-eyed, brown-haired graduate's next stop.

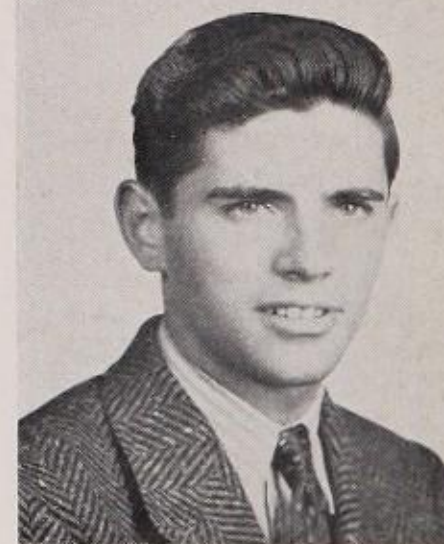

LILLIAN GELLER

Talkative "Lill" is the proud possessor of a silver "P," "Type" and "Book" certificate and a "Sten" pin. Laughing, knitting, and listening to records, are all enjoyable sidelines. She follows the mob when it comes to orchestras and books, her favorites being Jimmy Dorsey and "Rebecca". Lillian's aim in life is to be happy and to help make others happy. She's had her fingers in some of Eastside's pies, being a member of the Pan-American Club, Plan Your Future Club, Dramatic Society, and Vice President of the Commercial Club.

JACOB GEORGE

Elections always mean fun to "Jake", because he'll be able to make an addition to his extensive collection of campaign buttons. He can be seen about school, sporting his blue-embroidered sweater which he received as a varsity track award in 1941. When it comes to choosing favorites, ice cream sodas, Glen Miller, Rudyard Kipling, and playing football can all be seen at the top of the list. "Jake" has been active in the Current Events Club and the Student Council. Some day in the future you may see the name, Jacob George, as the by-line of some big New York paper—at least, that's what he hopes.

MATTHEW GIANNELLI

A future "gym" teacher, is well liked, husky, brown-eyed black-haired "Matt", winner of two major football "E's." He has also been active in baseball and bowling. In school club activities "Matt" was a member of the Student Council and the Cooke Hi-Y.* In his spare time, this Tommy Dorsey fan hunts, skates, and listens to popular records. The best subject in Eastside, according to "Matt", is Spanish, while a good heaping dish of spaghetti is good anywhere, any time.

PHYLLIS GIAQUINTO

"Giggles" makes all her own clothes so that she will be able to travel around the world in years to come. Work as a secretary is her goal after graduation. She has received a Pitman shorthand pin, "Sten" and bookkeeping certificates, plus a Silver "P" and the Crite "E". "Phyllis" took part in the activities of the Italian, Commercial, Red Cross, and Riding Clubs, and was a Criterion typist. Dancing to the strains of Jimmy Dorsey's music is a most enjoyable pastime of her's.

CLAIRE GIGANTE

Claire permitted no grass to grow under her feet during her high school days, being secretary of the senior class, editor of Criterion copy staff, Italian, Red Cross, Commercial and Current Events Club, and far from least, active in most sports. Ambitious, she hopes to live to see the 21st century. Ice cream is one of the few things that will stop Claire's constant talking. She was awarded several commercial certificates, and has received her Silver "P." Preference is shown for horseback riding and reading in this young Miss's case.

JOHN GINNELLY

A graduate from the Mechanical Arts course, "Jack" is nineteen years old and 5 feet 8 inches tall. Ambitious to have his own business, "Jack" is popular and friendly with everyone. Any music (no matter whose) makes him happy, but banana ice cream and lunch period rate tops with him. He and "Matt" Gianelli are close friends; while "Matt" plays football, John does not, but he follows every sport assiduously anyway.

RHODA GLAZER

When some one questions "Ro" about her height, the very prompt answer is four foot eleven and three-quarters—good till the last drop. To go into training, and become an efficient nurse is her next goal. By no means a sissy, she nevertheless finds pleasure in collecting poetry. Her singing and dancing give her and others much enjoyment. She was a member of the Talent Club, Dramatic Society, Chorus, Student Council, and was a Big Sister for two terms, proof reader and on copy staff of Senior Mirror. Awards include a gold "P" for this hazel-eyed brunette.

EDMUND GLORIANDE

Grey-eyed, brown-haired, and 5 feet 8 inches tall, "Ed" is known as a pleasant, mild-tempered fellow. Ed bowls, skates, and plays football, getting his energy from his favorite food, steak. Vaughn Monroe and history are preferred in their fields by this eighteen year old. "Ed" hopes to become a success in the world.

RENE GOASDONE

"Frenchy" plans to first go to the Casey Jones School of Aeronautics, and then become a millionaire and see the world. Playing basketball, baseball, going ice-skating, taking in a movie, and reading books by Kenneth Roberts take up most of his time. Of all the foods in the world, "Frenchy" thinks spinach is the best. Rene is 5 feet 11 inches tall, 148 pounds heavy, and has brown eyes and hair.

MARY JEAN GORGA

Tommy Dorsey has the right to claim another fan in Mary. Mary was a Household Arts student and a member of the Music and Household Arts Clubs. She plans to work after graduation. In her spare time, she sews, dances, and plays the piano. "Jane Eyre," top novel of Charlotte Bronte, is the favorite of Mary. She prefers apples to any other food. She has brown hair and brown eyes.

Best Wishes Mary

HECTOR GRANITO

"Heck" plans to work in an office after graduation and wants to be "a great success." One inch short of six feet with brown hair and brown eyes, this Jimmy Dorsey enthusiast rated algebra as his favorite subject and was a member of the Rifle and Riding Clubs. Riding, tennis and swimming are the hobbies of this admirer of chicken sandwiches, who enjoyed reading "For Whom the Bells Toll" very much.

Sincere wishes to a great success Hector

FRANK GRAVES

When questioned as to what he'd take along if he were going to a desert island, Frank would probably say, "Mashed potatoes, 'Tom Sawyer,' and maybe Lana Turner." "Snuffy" wants to attend Georgetown University after detaching himself from his dear alma mater, and still later hopes to become a judge of a law court. In his spare time, he indulges in the fine arts of tennis, music, and golf. Another hobby of Frank's is driving (carefully??). He's been manager of the track team, and a student councillor.

Best Wishes

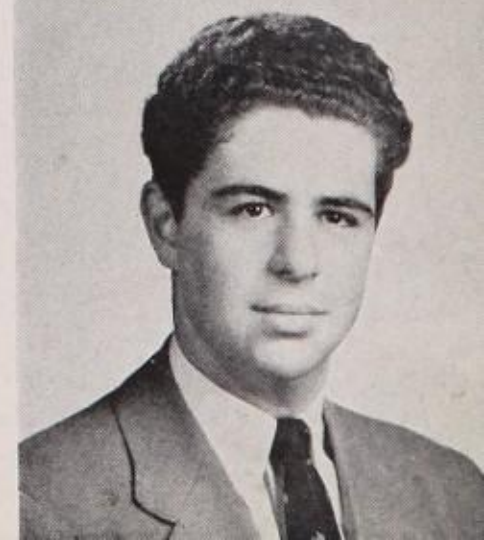

Buddy

BERNARD GREENBAUM

Ever since he's been knee-high to a grasshopper, "Buddy's" been fond of math—the more complicated, the better. Just give "Red" a big piece of la pizza (tomato pie to you), and he's contented. Maybe this accounts for one of his hobbies, which is eating, the other being photography. He's going to take life the hard way—he wants to be a successful loafer. He's held membership in the Student Council, Dabbler's Club, Math Team, Footlights Club, and football squad. Tommy Dorsey's music is very pleasing to the ears of this (almost) six-footer.

Gray-eyed, blonde, and five feet four inches tall, the class treasurer wants to grow to six feet. Not as big in size as he is in the hearts of his friends, "Ken" is one of the most well-liked members of the class. Success to Edward Hinton

ANNE HOLMES

Here is a very popular graduating senior. "Pat" is known to all as an all-around good sport. She states that her ambition is to have as many friends as her brother has, and we are inclined to believe that this ambition is not very far from being realized. Anne is athletically inclined, having been active in all girls' sports. This may be due to the fact that Anne likes to eat green vegetables, her favorite food being string beans. Anne was vice-president of the French Club and a member of the Senior Mirror staff.

Luck Anne Holmes

JACQUELINE M. HOLMES

Listening to radio and singing are "Jackie's" main hobbies, with singing emphatically underlined. It must be the Chinese in her, that makes Jackie so very fond of chow-mein. The well-known works of James Hilton are Jacqueline's favorite books. When she was asked what she intended to do after graduation, she replied with a great big question mark and a shrug of her shoulders.

Best of luck Jackie everything

The Dramatic Society and the Talent, Riding and Speech Clubs have known her as a member. Under the heading of hobbies come horseback riding, swimming, drawing and skiing.

MARIE MIDDERNACHT

Best of Everything

Her fondness for spaghetti does not show up on "Midd" as she only weighs 97 pounds. She was active in the Archery Club and some girls' sports. This five-footer is a Glenn Miller fan and an English enthusiast. Caught between two fires, she finally named a visit to Hawaii rather than a nurse's career as her ambition. She finds ping pong, reading and outdoor sports all favorites of hers. Marie selected Eve Curie's biography of Madame Curie as her favorite book.

However, "I" is not entirely musically-minded, for she also enjoys reading, roller skating, eating candy, and dancing. Her ironical ambition is to be what she will not be. After graduation Eileen intends to enter secretarial school.

CLASS POEM

THINGS REMEMBERED

It's the little things,
The little things best remembered . . .
The way the sky looks a hard, bright blue on a frisky morning
And the flag etched sharp and clear against it,
The field melting into heaven until
The bold red stripes are a separate entity in themselves.
And that first amazed flop on the ice at the gate
And "Hasn't this walk been cleaned off yet?"
And the snaky lines of the fire drill . . .
The way you can't get upstairs after lunch
And the pained surprise when a test is sprung
And the perpetual squawks about one thing or another.
The awful humiliation of being caught with your homework not done—
The first time this term (It's always the first time).
The shiver of joy when there's no eighth period
Or second . . . or third . . . as the case may be.
The throb of excitement at a football game
With the color and enthusiasm of the band and the cheerleaders.
Mr. Tompkins's light spring up to the platform
And the thunder and lightning of honest applause . . .
And the days you find out your teachers are human.
For all these things—but mostly because you're you
The big, alive, colorful you—
Eastside,
I'll remember.

"REMEMBER PEARL HARBOR"

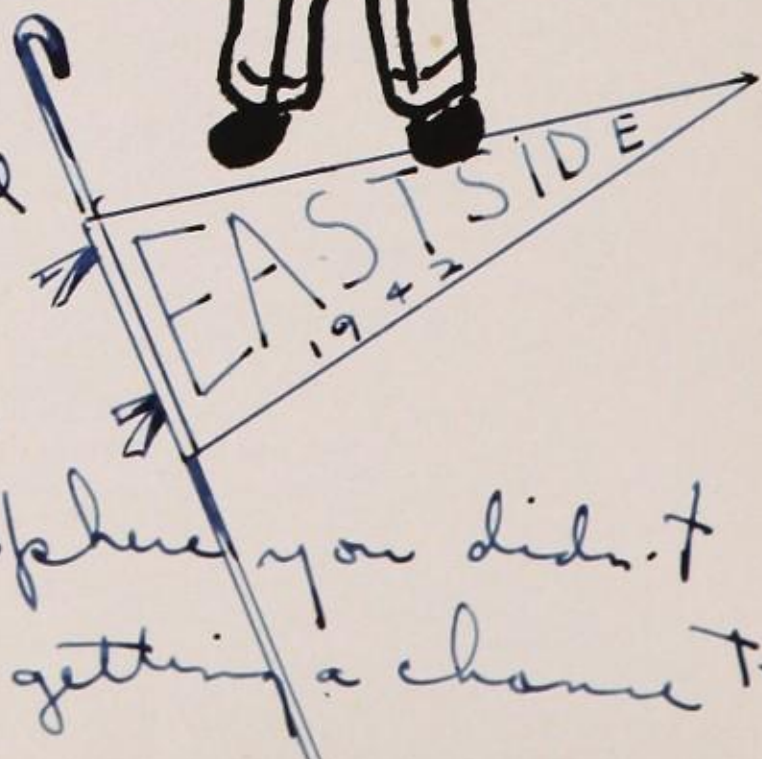

P.P.

Best wishes to a wonderful student. Considering the amount of studying you didn't do, and the atmosphere you didn't do it in it's a wonder I'm getting a chance to write in this book.

Love,

Elaine

CLASS WILL

We, being hep to the jive, solid and all reet of physique, do in the presence of yehudi, Bad Humor Man and John Silver, leave to certain katz as well as ickes the following stuff:

Part the beginning — devoted to our patient teachers; God bless them. A band whose members always show up and never play a sour note is our gift to Mr. Dutcher, all of him. Miss Banghart is rewarded with a mute section and sound proof walls. Three new, unused, streamlined typewriters are willed to Mr. Crooks. Something new has been added for Miss Grimshaw, a fourth floor — a new library. We leave to Miss Koch a class perfect in Latin sight translations. A healthy student body and faculty is willed to Miss Soutar.

Part the second — to the classes that follow in our fading footsteps. Suzanne Polowe leaves her capacity to keep a class in good cheer and laughter to Clare Van Dyk. Happy-go-lucky Mary Cuccinello leaves to Tom Pascreta his talent. To Joyce Stemer goes Faye Krauthamer's ability to select Schiaparelli styles. Heinz Suhl bequeathes his power of making a co-ed's heart flutter to handsome Dick Hill. Peppy Marion De Crosta and Jack Mial add their vitality to the rest of the squad. When you see red, it's only Helen Cornett's blushing prowess being transferred to Lou Hoitsma. Versatile Vicky Smith bequeathes her athletic skills to Helen Seymour. After adding his initials to those gone before him, Al Kachadurian hands the well worn gavel over to the new president, George Lessuck. Marvin Tuckman and Murray Freed smile slyly as they leave to the new Senior Mirror staff exactly one bottle of 1,000 aspirin tablets, one bottle of morphine and ten packs of reefers, to help rid them of their worries.

Part the end — to those who have sighed with relief when they thought they had slipped through the noose.

The vivacity of Doris Leffertz is left to anyone with the energy and will power to fill her shoes. To any two courageous enough to try to equal them, Mary Calabrese and Irving Nurik leave their Quiz Kid knowledge. Bernard Ungerleider, Herman Auerbach and Charles Kaplan leave their place in the band to any student virtuoso capable of keeping up the pace they set. To any quick thinker and slow mover, we donate "Hundred and One Tried Excuses for Being Late to Class," by Bernard Greenbaum. Any science enthusiast with the capacity to absorb thoughts quickly is willed, in addition to his own, Harold Neufeld's faculty.

To the seniors we leave the happy thoughts of graduation in June. Juniors receive thoughts of class elections in the near future and a little swelled head from being upper classmen. We leave the sophomores a book on salesmanship — or how to sell an elevator ticket to the frosh. To the freshmen, being self-made men, we leave but the idea of four years full of fun and studies. To the faculty in general and especially to Mr. Tompkins, our deepest gratitude and fond regard.

CLASS HISTORY

Four years ago some 400 insignificant Freshmen entered the portals of Eastside and this week 300 will be told farewell as they ascend the platform for the last time, to receive their diplomas. Those who fell by the wayside have missed the many honors bestowed upon Eastside and the class of January '42.

As time marches on and the lives that we are living this day become history, faces and happenings of Eastside in our day will slip from the grasp of our burdened minds.

Who was the backbone of the class of January, 1942? Who was active enough to rate consideration in the CRITERION, the official school paper, which itself was enhanced by the addition of many members of our class?

The greatest change in the history of the school administration took place during our brief stay, when Mr. Francis North vacated the position of principal, after serving Eastside nobly for 15 years and Paterson for one quarter of a century. Mr. Ellsworth Tompkins received the appointment for the vacated position and we leave Eastside sure of his successful administration.

Athletic awards have been numerous. "The state champion" football team boasted Seniors Kachadurian, Sylvester, Elsner, Giannelli, and Suhl on its roster; the first undefeated cross-country team was represented by Mial and Voorhees; Vicky Smith and Betty Ohlson were named as junior referees, by a state board, for girls' sports.

Jean McLuckie and Harriet Parker headed the Criterion Staff in another banner year of editions while Editor-in-chief McLuckie was adjudged one of the best staff leaders in the history of the school newspaper. Successful social events will also be remembered, namely, the senior sponsored "Music Maker Program," featuring Jimmy Dorsey and his staff of artists.

The voice of the student body on all affairs in which the faculty requests an opinion is the Student Council. This group represents a cross section of the school. Each section class elects a boy and a girl at the commencement of each term to represent it at the Council meetings and to act as leaders in transacting special business in the class-room, such as collecting the library fund and distributing the Criterion on publication Thursday.

The presidency was taken over by Suzanne Polowe, former vice-president, in December, following the resignation of William Woodhouse; the duties of secretary-treasurer were carried out by Betty McLaughlin. Miss Marian Crooks is adviser to the Council. This governing body is active in co-operating with all student projects undertaken. It sponsored the "C. C. C." campaign (signifying courtesy, cleanliness, and co-operation), which met with great success. It is a member of the New Jersey Association of Student Councils and also sends delegates to conferences of metropolitan secondary schools for discussing problems of student government. At times, as it sees fit, the Council conducts social affairs to raise money. Last term the Council's efforts beautified the school grounds, by inducing the Board of Education to plant small hedges around the lawns adjacent to the gates, so that canvas will no longer be used during football games.

Heading the list of the outstanding organizations is the "Criterion," the bi-weekly publication of the school. The "Crite" supplies the students with current events and sports news of the school, and informs the student body of the progress of extracurricular activities. The climax of the newspaper's work comes annually, when under the sponsorship of the publication, the "Queen of the Campus" is crowned in a special assembly after a two month balloting campaign. This was supervised last year by Janet White, former news editor. Outstanding members of the staff receive membership to "Quill and Scroll", an international honorary society for high school journalists who show proficiency in creative writing. Other deserving members are given recognition in the form of bronze and silver "E's".

The leadership this term was assumed by Editor-in-chief Jean McLuckie, who received the first gold "E" ever awarded to a Criterion editor, and Managing Editor Harriet Parker, recipient of a silver "E", under the advisership of Mr. A. Duryee Crooks for the editorial department and Miss Ula Levin, for the business section. A division of the "Criterion" is the public newspaper columns for conveying to outsiders the activities of the school. By an examination directed by Mr. Crooks each term a columnist is selected for the local newspapers. The "Morning Call" had Marvin Tuckman as its writer; Murray Freed was correspondent for the "Paterson Evening News."

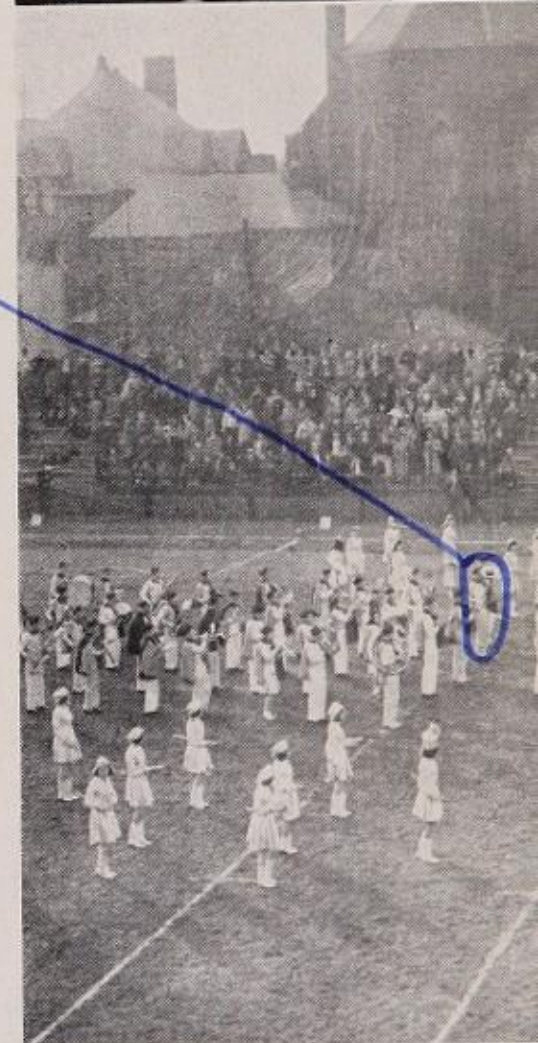

DRAMATIC SOCIETY

"The Man Who Came to Dinner" was the main project of the Dramatic Society this term under the supervision of Mr. Barney Lipowitz. Besides this successful presentation, Norma Nalanbogen, James Spadafora, Joan Tonelson, and William Woodhouse presented a short play, "The Shadow On the Path," to aid the sale of Christmas seals on station W. P. A. T. Many performances are given in the assemblies, including pantomimes, skits, and monologues. Boasting one of the largest enrollments of the clubs in the school, the society has greatly aided the promotion of dramatics at Eastside by its performances. Pins are awarded to members for outstanding achievement, bearing the emblem of the society and the class year numerals of the recipient.

THE BAND

No football game is complete without Mr. Ray Dutcher's talented group of musicians, which has won recognition far and wide and most recently was awarded a trophy for an outstanding performance in a contest, in which all the bands of schools belonging to the Passaic Valley Conference were represented. Donned with orange and blue capes, white pants and sweaters, and blue "over-seas" caps, the Band puts on its greatest show of the year, when on Thanksgiving Morn, it marches to the Hinchliffe Stadium from the City Hall and enters the gridiron amidst thunderous cheers resounding from the Eastside rooting section. For a year's work the musicians receive an emblem consisting of an orange "E" mounted on a blue lyre, which they proudly sport around the school.

JUNIOR POLICE

The job of making the passing to and from the school safe is a most important one of the Junior Police Force, which is advised by Mr. Edward Mather. With Ray Woodhouse as chief, the boys do patrol duty around the campus. There is also an assistant chief and several associates who receive appointments under a graduated system of advancement. For their inestimable work, the force sends a delegation to the convention for junior police held each spring in Washington under the sponsorship of the American Auto Association. The delegates are chosen on a point system which boys obtain through good work and selling candy and peanuts at the football games. The proceeds go to the organization's treasury.

THE MAJORETTES

One of Eastside's newly organized clubs is the DABBLERS CLUB, with Miss Frances Durbin as faculty adviser. This active group, organized about seven months ago, is limited to members of Miss Durbin's English 4, 5 and 6 classes of two years ago. As the name implies, the group holds informal get-togethers and participates in varied activities.

Once again the MAJORETTES and FLAG TWIRLERS have added color and spirit to the football games, where they have impressed hundreds of visitors, before the beaming eyes of Mr. Ray Dutcher.

LEADERS' CLUB

By its presentation of "Circus Revels", a program of diversified entertainment, the TALENT CLUB proved its worth by introducing a host of new performers to these portals.

Mrs. S. Kobre supervises the work of the COMMERCIAL CLUB which acquaints its members with the conditions and activities of the business world. One of its newest developments is the tutor system, enabling the poorer students to receive help from the club members. This semester the group was headed by Doris Sella, Lillian Geller, Phyllis Giaquinto and Mildred Zlotkin.

Eastside's RED CROSS CLUB has been making and presenting Christmas baskets to charitable institutions, making collections of discarded clothes for the needy, and similar charitable work.

Holding parties, educational trips or talks and providing necessary items for the poor children have taken up much time of the HOUSEHOLD ARTS CLUB.

The FOOTLIGHTS CLUB attempts to train underclassmen in speech and to develop poise. A schoolwide tourney, won by Wilson Witten, was sponsored by the HORSESHOE CLUB, which is headed by Art Scolari and advised by Mr. Henry Rumana.

ITALIAN CLUB in its effort to further the students' love for Italian culture and art.

The ruling body for girls' sports at Eastside is the LEADERS' CLUB, which admits members only after they have obtained a certain number of athletic points and have been duly initiated.

"Fluorescent Lighting" was the subject of this term's assembly presentation of the NATURE-SCIENCE CLUB. Under the guidance of Mr. Eugene Vivian, the group, as an extra activity, edits an interesting science newspaper, "The Science Review," which is distributed for only one cent throughout the entire science department.

Advised by Mr. Joseph Goldberg, the MATH CLUB, composed of brilliant mathematics fiends, edits a math paper, "The Math X", which makes its appearance once a year.

GIRLS GLEE CLUB

After dinner speeches, spelling and pronunciation bees, humorous selections, group discussions, extemporaneous and impromptu speeches are just a few of the activities that the SPEECH CLUB indulges in. Mr. Barney Lipowitz coaches the organization.

The various music organizations have been more active in the past four years than at any other time in the history of the school. With Miss Amelia Fletcher proffering the needed information, the MUSIC APPRECIATION CLUB has busied itself by discussing and listening to many types of music. Various other faculty members have also spoken before meetings of the club.

The ORCHESTRA plays at school functions and is governed by a student elected board. The ASSOCIATION OF MUSIC CLUBS makes plans for the raising of funds, to be used in sending school musicians to various contests and festivals, to provide equipment for the school and take students to hear outstanding concerts. Increasing the interest of musically inclined pupils in the works of great composers, both modern and early, is the work of the PIANO CLUB. The SWING CLUB has progressed ably under the supervision of Mr. Robert Greenwald and the leadership of Harold Johnson. The GIRLS' and BOYS' GLEE CLUBS presented many interesting assembly programs. The A CAPPELLA CHORUS is Eastside's only chorus which represents the school in outside activities.

Miss Edna Milliman advises the active CAMERA CLUB, which sponsors many contests throughout the school, in an effort to stimulate the photographic efforts of the students.

Besides giving girls the chance to improve their bowling skill, the GIRLS' BOWLING CLUB affords Eastside's Misses a chance to meet new friends and gather in an informal and leisurely manner.

Those girls meeting on the school's campus and discharging their arrows at targets are not Woman Defense Volunteers, but rather the GIRLS' ARCHERY CLUB, which is advised by Miss Dorothy Ward.

Composed of underclassmen, the CURRENT EVENTS CLUB tours civic buildings and factories, under the supervision of Mrs. Williams.

Barbara Trotter headed the LATIN CLUB, a group which once a term edits a newspaper, "The Tuba". Organized to help the student learn more about contemporary art, the ART CLUB is advised by Mrs. Lyle.

Greatly aiding Paterson's civic institutions was the COMMUNITY CHEST JUNIOR SPEAKERS' BUREAU, which was headed this semester by Janet White. The group spoke before various meetings and student bodies in an effort to secure support for the Community Chest drive.

Advised by Mr. Morris Waldstein, the SCIENCE WORKSHOP has carried on many experimental programs. The INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB discusses current world problems. Mr. Sedlatchek advises the organization.

FOOTBALL

The football campaign of 1941, which will go down as the greatest in Eastside grid history, came to a climax on December 8, when Coach Dave Ross heard his team acclaimed as the North Jersey Group IV, Section 1, Champions, and a consensus of sports writers present at the annual conference of the New Jersey Interscholastic Athletic Association, named Eastside as the "mythical" state champions.

In their quest for the "mythical" state title the "Undertakers" amassed 187 points while their opponents could only account for 20.

The "Ghosts" opened their campaign with Montclair, rated very highly in the state. They took advantage of the breaks and when husky Ted Dostanko crashed through the line to block a Montclair boot deep in their territory, the only score of the day was set up, giving Eastside a 7 to 0 victory over the Mounties.

The second game brought West Orange, a formidable foe, to Baeurle Field. In this tilt the "Undertakers" started early and strong and when the final whistle blew, the eleven had rolled up 24 big points, holding the "Cowboys" in check throughout.

Following this victory the Orange and Blue moved against Lincoln of Jersey City. They trampled over the Hudsonites and with Al Kachadurian slicing through the line, posted a 19 to 6 victory.

Coach Dave Ross

The fourth victory came at the expense of Emerson of Union City which was soundly trounced 26 to 0 at the "Bulldogs" home field.

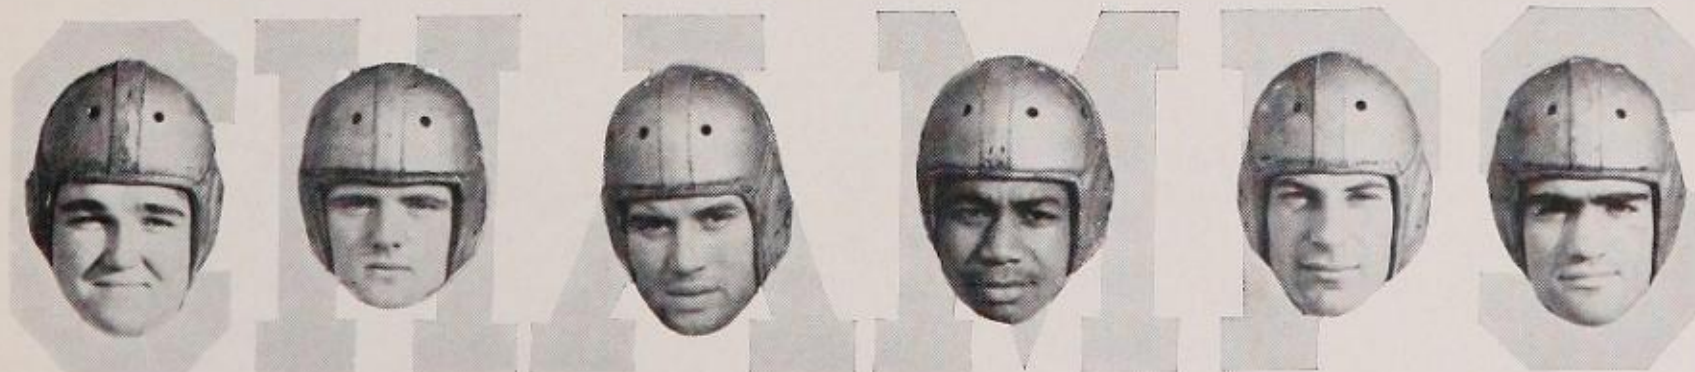

Clifton invaded next for the initial conference fray, but was met with a savage land and aerial bombardment. The "Mustangs" were greeted with four touchdowns, two by land and two by air, for a 27 to 0 rout.

Hopes of remaining unbeaten were shattered on Election Day when the "Indians" from Passaic, in a rough and tumble affair, posted an 8 to 6 upset.

This defeat only angered the "Ghosts" and they scared 20 points from East Rutherford to post a shutout victory. The visitors brought with them the famous Syracuse "Y" formation, which proved ineffective.

Pointing all season to their important tilt with Garfield, the Rossmen came through and outfought the "Boilermakers" for a 13 to 0 victory. This win shattered a streak of 16 straight unbeaten games compiled by the Argauermen. Led by Larry Doby's 60 yard touchdown run after a pass interception, and the line bucking of Al Kachadurian, the Orange and Blue scored twice in the second quarter, enough to offset any threat Garfield might have brought up.

The "Undertakers" finished their schedule on Thanksgiving Day against their downtown rivals and before 12,000 Patersonians unmercifully trounced the Colts 45 to 6. Kachadurian threw 20 passes, completing 14 for five touchdowns, three by Larry Doby, and one each by Fred Elsner and Heinz Suhl. Two other scores came on a line plunge by "Kachy" and an off tackle run by Lou Sylvester. This victory evened the city series with Central, both elevens evenly sharing 16 games and tying one.

BASKETBALL

Although defeated by Memorial of West New York in the opener played at Madison Square Garden, 43 to 30, the basketball team, following the example set by the football team, came back fighting, and as the season progressed began to shape up as one of the best teams to represent Eastside.

In the initial contest with Memorial on December 13, the "Ghosts" were completely overshadowed in the first half by last year's Eastern States' Champions. Fighting bitterly in the second session, the "Ghosts" cut down on the West New York lead but could never come close enough to threaten.

Paced by the 15 points of Larry Doby and the 13 of Luke Badagliacca the cagemen vanquished East Rutherford, 41 to 25, on December 19.

All-State Larry Doby, captain of the team, and Luke Badagliacca have shown their ability to score and are among the best ball handlers in the state.. Lanky Les Harris can be counted on to retrieve the balls off the backboard and throw in points when necessary. Stan Altshuler and Al Dybacki have excelled on the defense.

COACH HENRY RUMANA

The greatest quintet of our junior year boasting the big five of Doby, Miller, Hapgood, Brown, and Badagliacca, brought many honors and thrills to the school when they played superior ball to keep the Conference Championship within the portals of Eastside.

Outstanding rivalry was provided by Garfield, which fell a victim to the vanquishing "Ghost" basketekers the first game, but came back to win the second. The play-off game for the title went to the Orange and Blue as a result of a 47 to 45 overtime game held on the neutral court of Hawthorne High School.

TENNIS

Supervised by Mr. Jacob Weber, the tennis team did its part to uphold the high standards of Eastside's athletic squads by winning eleven matches while losing only three.

In conference competition the racqueteers were unbeaten, easily winning the title by trampling each opponent. Clifton and Garfield were each crushed twice while Central went to defeat once.

The courtmen earned victories over the New York Military Academy and Englewood, split even in two matches with Montclair and relinquished its other defeat to Barringer.

The racqueteers opened their season opposing Tenafly, and before they could get started, they were nipped in the bud 3 to 2.

Regaining their stride in the next meet, they overcame Montclair by the same score, 3 to 2. This commenced a long string of victories, numbering eight, seven over Conference opponents and another over Kearny.

The team hit a stone wall and sustained its first loss in nine meets when it was outvolleyed by Barringer 4 to 1. A week later Montclair turned in a 4 to 1 victory over the "Ghosts."

The mainstay of the team was the top seeded Sid Brown. Other performers were Hugh Sloan, August Katterman, George Cohn and Bob Rose.

Winning its ninth consecutive meet in dual competition by vanquishing Rutherford, the 1941 harriers completed their first undefeated season in the school's history.

The Goldberg coached team also captured the Passaic Valley championship for the third straight year, crossing the finish line ahead of Passaic, Clifton, Rutherford and East Rutherford.

This was the first year that the cinder-men entered the State Championship competition and they did well in finishing fifth, behind Trenton, Thomas Jefferson, Union and Dover, in that order.

Opening its season on October 9, the "Ghosts" defeated Clifton by the shutout route, 15 to 40. Then came successive victories over Rutherford and Clifton again. The hill-and-dalers resumed action against Lodi on October 29, conquering them 10 to 36. Within a space of six days from November 5 to November 10 the harriers rang up three wins, trouncing East Rutherford, Passaic and Rutherford. Already having beaten Lodi the second time, the "Ghosts" finished their most sensational season.

Lettermen include six seniors who will graduate Eastside before next season. Among these six are Jack Mial and Bill Kirkham, co-captains of the team. Kirkham and Ray Chiappelli provided the teams one-two punch throughout the season, dividing their glory equally throughout the season.

To you I wish love, wisdom, happiness — the rest only God and I know

So, here is to the graduate who comes forth to be seen
